SOUTHERN PROTECTION INSURANCE

COMPANY,

ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA. CAPITAL OVER 350,000 DOLLARS, AND CONSTANTLY INCREASING. The Charter of this Company offers more favorable advantages to the farmer and others, than any Company chartered in the State, by insuring with or without a premium note. If the applicant prefer, he can pay the full amount of the premium n cash, or by effecting a cash insurance for two years, the insured saves enc-eighth of the amount he would otherwise have to pay; or by becoming a member, and giving a small premium note, the insured saves nearly one-half of the amount charged by Stock Companies, when insuring from year to year. This is the advantage resulting from the combination of the CASH AND MUTUAL PRINCIPLE. This Company commenced issuing Policies against loss or damage by fire, on the 13th day of March, 1854, since which time over seven thousand seven hundred persons have insured and become members of the Company, and over seventy thousand dollars have been paid for losses. Having increased our business during the past year, we feel grateful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon the Company thus far, and for its flattering prospeets of future usefulness. The Directors hope and believe, that, by prudence, caution, and a rigid system of economy, they will establish for this Company a reputation for cheapness and safety 240 CRATI not surpassed by any Company in the U. States. All differences in settlement of losses, may be letermined by three disinterested arbitrators of the County where such loss happened, to be mutually hosen by the insured and the Company. AN INTERESTING DESCRIPTION. -The New York Herald, on Saturday, in alluding to the late visit of the Prince of Wales to Mount Vernon, gives an account of the trip, so full of local interest, and so well written, that we The Committee on Finance, to whom was refertransfer it to our columns as a memento of one of the most interesting events which ever took place in this vicinity:-

"All the associations of that historical excursion are of the most happy character .-The weather was deliciously warm and sun-Ordered, That the Auditor issue his warrant in | ny, and the mirth and gaiety of the disrosy and respiendent beauty of the day .-The Potomac shone like a mirror in its picturesque and wooded framework, as the steamer that bore them onward ploughed her watery way, while the flags of all nati ns fluttered guily from her rigging, and strains of exquisite melody evoked by the band on petition of Mrs. Harriet DeLagnel, reported in deck bore her company, and added a new charm to the delightful voyage, during which the Prince beguiled a few moments by taking the place at the wheel and steering. This last is a picture in itself. Who ever thought, in the time of George the Third, that some day his descendant, the heir to the British throne, would be found steering a United States steamer, with the President of the republic on board, towards Council, was received, and their action concur- the tomb of Washington, at which he was about to pay homage and respect to valor, to wisdom, to goodness, which appeal to sympathies so universal that they can nowhere be resisted?

The soft rays of the autumn sun, playing with golden light upon the foliage of the venerable trees which cast a sacred shade around the silent grave, and the impressive tones of the dirge in "Trovatore," performed by the band, enhanced the solemn and unique beauty of the scene. That party of travellers stood like brothers at the tomb of and Measures within the limits of the Corpora- him whose name is a brilliant history, fortion, has not been complied with; which was getting all things but the grandeur of his fame. It was a noble, a graceful, a royal tribute to the free, and long will the people of the United States remember that visit to Mount Vernon. All present felt that they were standing on ground consecrated by the love and admiration of thirty millions of freemen, and the admirers of true greatness and nobility throughout the world. Around them was the deep wooded dell, in which ancient oaks spread their knotted arms over luxuriant shrubbery, extending to the water's side, while before them was the mausoleum, an arched vault surrounded by a of Alexandria, held Tuesday evening, January brick wall, with a pointed arch and double gates of iron railings opening into the outer chamber, in which were two marble sarcophagi, on each of which rested a slab, the one to the right bearing the inscription of Washington, and the other of Martha, his wife. The Prince made several remarks, it may be remembered, appreciative of the glorious character of the man whose death was deplored by his country, and whose deeds are imperishable. He also expressed a will-A petition was received from Mrs. Levinia Ten- ingness to plant a tree on the spot, in comnesson, asking to be relieved from a License and memoration of his visit, and, some horse other tax, assessed to her late husband; which, chestnuts having been handed to him, he stooped and planted them in the earth.
